

ARTIST STATEMENT

I am a woman, a designer, a jeweller.

My mission is to tell contemporary stories, to capture them in jewellery that will endure from generation to generation. I talk about my time where there is diversity and contrast – from deep harmony to whirling chaos. An era, in which I, a woman who works with gemstones, is possible.

My calling is to be alert and enthusiastic and to see the unusual; the magical in everything, to let odd, unseen and serendipitous things take place. Every thing, life, event can be a captivating springboard for a rich and tasteful story.

My mission as a woman is to generate more beauty in the world and nature has given us the inner strength to do that – deep knowledge of healing, mystic and magic powers. I hope that these pieces of jewellery will help to feel, carry and disseminate this power. I have created jewellery with a message that is clearly striking and full of energy.

Although quiet and delicately beautiful, they resonate with a very powerful energetic frequency.

My, ANITA SONDORE's jewellery.
